RADIKON

In the Friuli region of Northern Italy, the history of skin contact wines goes back hundreds of years. Radikon is an exemplary representation of beautiful winemaking that can come from this area where tradition trumps national borders. Radikon is not necessarily a traditionalist however. Rather than using ancient vinification vessels such as anfora (terra cotta clay vessels), all of their wine is vinified in Slavonian Oak barrels (famously used in Piedmontese wines as well). These funky and fun gems have a cult following so try 'em out and see what the fuss is all about!

MEAD

Mead is a unique class of alcoholic beverage characterized by three ingredients: fermented honey, water and yeast. Mead is the first known alcoholic beverage consumed by mankind and is believed to predate wine by nearly three thousand years. Today, mead is often referred to as ‘honey wine’ because the process of making mead and wine are so similar. The key difference is the use of honey rather than grapes as a source of sugar.

GARAGISTE MEADERY: Tampa, Florida

Garagiste started with a couple of home-mead makers back in 2015, before most people in the country had even heard of mead, let alone tasted it. The owners are committed to using only the best honey, flavored with the finest fruits available and is among the most respected meaderies in the world!

A Camerata tradition has long been to have an expansive selection of quality Madeira wines - Many people are only familiar with Madeira as a cooking wine but it is indeed so so much more. This fortified wine is basically the Superhero of wines...it is impervious to time and maintains its acidity for centuries. This is the moment you should ask yourself...when was the last time you had something from 1907 in your mouth?

D'OLIVEIRAS:

Founded in the 1880's and still family owned today, D'Oliveira is one of the most astonishing companies on the island of Madeira. Of all the producers on the island, they have the greatest library of old vintages, dating all the way back to 1850. Their wines have powerful aromatics, great lushness and viscosity, incredible structure, and a tangy character that is essential to great Madeira.

SHERRY

A complicated beverage with unique styles and flavors that vary from dry & crisp, to oxidative & nutty, to roasty, toasty & sweet. These wines can compliment both savory and sweet dishes. This is a wine region with deep history and we are featuring Bodegas that showcase the quality of the smaller producers rather than the large co-ops that dominate much of this region. This is one of the most iconic, yet misunderstood wines in the world...so please ask us which style you might enjoy and if you want a real treat ask about the .. different food pairings that can compliment each one!
